

About Kepler Space Institute

By Gordon Holder, Chairman of the Board of Directors

Kepler Space Institute is dedicated to the expansion of human civilization from Earth into Space. We believe the future Space Epoch has the potential of creating paradigm shift improvements for Earth's people and its environment.

Our mission is to provide educational programs and research solutions to business, industry, and government in support of continual Space exploration, development, commercialization, and human settlements. We formulated the Law of Space Abundance in 2009 to capture the knowledge of natural resources in our universe for Earth's needs.

Our Journal of Space Philosophy, founded in 2012, documents for the world the values, the beliefs, the visions, the challenges, and the directions that this Space Age is taking and planning. Our organizational vision includes the creation of an online global Space University exclusively dedicated to the above visions.
